

The Food Stamp policy has been revised to reflect a change in the amount of the mandatory Standard Utility Allowance used to calculate a household's income for the purposes of determining eligibility for, and the amount of, food stamp benefits. Effective December 1, 2007, the Standard Utility Allowance (SUA) is increased from $520 to $556 per month.